

quality management

Hills Waste Solutions Limited operates under a Quality Management System, which has been externally certified to the international standard ISO 9001:2008.

This standard, which applies to all the processes carried out within Hills Waste Solutions, demonstrates commitment to service quality and customer satisfaction. We have established what the customers needs and ensured that we have the resources to meet that requirement, and then provide an appropriate service or supply goods. Performance is monitored through measuring, customer surveys auditing and set objectives for improvement.

ISO 9001:2008 is relevant to sales, contract bidding and managing contracts, waste brokerage and the processing of waste into products for sale such as compost and woodchip.

QUALITY INITIATIVES:

Move to Improve - This initiative is aimed at capturing ideas and observations from staff. Hills engages with its workforce to identify opportunities to improve customer services, productivity and quality of products, reduce costs and improve Health and Safety and Environmental performance.

Training - Hills recognises that staff are the public face of Hills Waste Solutions Limited. It has identified training needs and delivered appropriate training to meet those needs.

Customer satisfaction and stakeholder engagement - Hills has developed systems to measure customer complaints and satisfaction so that a better service can be provided. Customer surveys are carried out and actions taken to resolve complaints are documented. Public liaison groups have been established where the activities of Hills may affect the local community and Hills also conducts visits to our facilities.
