

Quarry foreman (Mortimer)

Hills Quarry Products Ltd has an exciting opportunity for a quarry foreman to join the team, at our new sand and gravel quarry near Reading, Berkshire.

Reporting to the quarry manager, the successful candidate will be required to plan, lead and organise all on site activities, ensuring operations are safe, clean and efficient. The role will require working closely with the quarry manager to assist in achieving the operational targets and uphold compliance.

Candidates are required to have experience of people management, including control of contractors and preferably hold plant operators licences for loading shovel and/or excavator, blade and dumper. The successful candidate will also be required to have, or work towards, QCF Level 4 Managing Health, Safety and Environment. Experience of regulation 8.1(d) would be desirable, in order to take responsibility for the site, in the absence of the quarry manager.

The successful candidate will have good communication, interpersonal and relationship building skills, be a team player and have the ability to multitask. Applicants will need to be computer literate and be highly organised.

Please email your CV to join@hills-group.co.uk quoting the vacancy reference HGL855.
