Wiltshire based site manager wins industry H&S award for second time

The Building Safety Group (BSG)'s Site Manager of the Year award for the Central and South West region has been won by Jan Pearce, site manager for construction company Hills Homes.

Jan has worked for Hills Homes for 22 years and has been responsible for managing the day to day activities on a number of the company's home building sites.

Jan and John Doody, production manager for Hills Homes, attended the BSG's awards ceremony held at the Williams F1 Conference Centre in Oxfordshire and were very pleased to hear that Jan had won the award for a second time.

Jan said: "Health and safety is of paramount importance and it is a collective and continuous effort. It is with thanks to my colleagues on and off-site that we, as a company, have a good health and safety record which has been recognised and awarded again".

Jan previously won the BSG Site Managers' Health & Safety Award for the Bristol and the South West Region in 2010. He was nominated for this award by the regional BSG Safety Advisor for maintaining the highest standards of health and safety on-site. BSG inspect Homes' sites on a regular basis and report on their health and safety compliance.

Nick King, Group director of Hills Homes was delighted and said, "Winning this award is testament of Jan's commitment to the importance of health and safety. Jan has always been a conscientious site manager in terms of construction delivery and full credit to him for winning this award for the second time."

Jan is currently based at the High Penn Park development in Calne where Hills' is building its largest ever development of 200 new homes including affordable housing.
